A Message from Fr. Tom Donovan:

June 13 is the Memorial of St. Anthony of Padua: Almighty ever-living God, who gave Saint Anthony of Padua to your people as an outstanding preacher and an intercessor in their need, grant that, with his assistance, as we follow the teachings of the Christian life, we may know your help in every trial. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God, for ever and ever.

Thank you to all who made the Junefest celebration so successful! We appreciate our chair people, those who set up and cleaned up, our sponsors and donors, those who worked the stands and concessions, and everyone else who had a role to play, big or small. But most especially we thank all of our faithful friends and neighbors who came out in the heat for the evening, enjoyed a beer or sent their kids through the foam tunnel. Our preliminary numbers are showing about a $26k profit, which will be put to the operation of St. Dominic School. Thanks again to all!

A word of thanks also goes out to our Funeral Luncheon teams. After a few months of quiet on the funeral-front, they continue to sparkle with Christian Love that can only be expressed in the hospitality provided for those who are gathered to mourn the passing of a loved one. We are always looking for a few more folks to join this wonderful mission— please call the parish office at (217) 222-5996. Thanks again for your ministry!

Finding hope, prayer, and peace through the Church's Funeral Rites
The death of a loved one is a sad and difficult time. Who exactly remains the loss of our loved ones, whose presence in our lives we will miss deeply. However, this is also a time of hope and grace. For Catholics, Christians place all of our hope in Our Lord Jesus Christ, who through His Passion, Death, and Resurrection has conquered death and prepared the path to eternal life.

The Purpose of Catholic Funeral Rites
• To worship God in thanksgiving for the gift of the person's life.
• To pray for the soul of the deceased, commending them to God's mercy and asking forgiveness of sins.
• To bring back consolation to the family, strengthened by the promise of the Resurrection.

In these rites, the Church proclaims the Gospel of Jesus Christ and reminds us that God's mercy is greater than death.
A Catholic funeral is not a single moment, but a journey of prayer made up of three sacred "stations," often connected by processions:

1. The Vigil is typically held at the funeral home the evening before the funeral Mass. It is the Church's official prayer for the deceased and a time for family, friends, and community to gather.

2. The funeral liturgy (typically Mass) celebrated in the parish church, this is the heart of the Catholic funeral rites, where we unite the life of the deceased to Christ's sacrifice on the Cross.
3. The Rite of Committal celebrated at the cemetery, where the body or cremated remains are laid to rest in hope of the Resurrection.

These sacred moments help us accompany our loved one in prayer and gently move through grief within the rhythm of the Church's prayer.

- Visitations (or Wakes) and Vigil Prayers
The visitation (or wake) and Vigil are two related but distinct parts of the Catholic funeral rites, each serving an important purpose in accompanying the deceased and comforting the family.
1. The Vigil is the Church's official prayer for the deceased and for those who mourn. It is normally celebrated the evening before the funeral Mass, often during the visitation period. And it is a part of the Order of Christian Funerals. While the body or other remains may be present, they do not replace the Vigil, though they can be included alongside it.
 2. The Vigil may be celebrated with or without the presence of the family. When possible, it is led by a priest, deacon, or parish representative on behalf of the Church, continuing the Church's prayer for the deceased even if loved ones are unable to attend.
 3. The Vigil is most held on the morning of the funeral.

"JESUS TOLD HER, 'I AM THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE: WHOEVER BELIEVES IN ME, EVEN IF HE DIES, WILL LIVE.'" (JOHN 11:25) | DIOCESE.FUNERAL

Speaking of funerals... Bishop Paprocki has recently published policies for funerals which are to go into effect July 1, 2026. He has met with the local funeral directors and pastors in person to communicate these expectations. There is really nothing new here, except that "best practices" which have been promoted for years are now taking the posture of liturgical law which we will not have the ability to adapt or derogate from. There is a flier from the Diocese attached as part of this bulletin that highlights these expectations.

The focus of the policy is to be sure that when a Catholic funeral is being planned, it remains "on brand", that is, "Catholic" in its culture and ethos and celebration. Catholic funerals are not fundamentally "celebrations of life" or mere social conventions, but these are moments of worship, thanksgiving, evangelization, and entrustment, placing ourselves in the hands of God who brings mercy to sinners and consolation on those who mourn.

A couple of major features of the new policy: 1) is that it is expected that there are three distinct and integral 'stations' to the Catholic funeral liturgy... a time of prayer gathered with the body the night before, the funeral itself, and then the burial. As such, permission is now withdrawn to have a combined "visitation-funeral" on the same day, as sometimes has been the custom. 2) the policy discourages, but does not forbid gathering in the church for the visitation. When visitations do take place in church, it needs to be remembered that the gathering is taking place in a sacred space, which begs a certain degree of decorum, which perhaps has been lacking in recent years. 3) Eulogies are now, formally, forbidden at the Funeral Mass. These have never been part of the Catholic burial rites, and often, in a very 'cringe' way, frequently land completely off-target from the Good News that is proclaimed in the Catholic Funeral Liturgy. The policy suggests that the priest or deacon could speak from a short family-prepared text, if necessary, but I am going to decline to do this, asking families who would like to share to do so outside of the liturgy, perhaps at the luncheon or another appropriate time. 4) Finally, the pastors have been advised that, in order to assure that cremated remains are not improperly 'stored' at home for any reason (to wait for a spouse to die, to 'share' the remains among family members, because the death or grief has been sudden and there has not been time to secure a burial site,) that funerals with cremated remains will not take place until there is a plan in place for the dignity of a proper Christian burial. Effectively this delays, but does not forbid, Christian burial to those who are cremated when families are unable or unwilling to commit the remains to the earth.

My intention is, as has been before, to work with families in their time of need with all the flexibility and understanding that our funeral rites provide. What is being presented here is completely in keeping with what a Catholic funeral is truly all about. As particular law of the Diocese of Springfield, we are obligated to follow it, both in letter and spirit, that we may celebrate these moments of worship and praise more authentically with the heart and mind of the Church.

M.A.G.I.C. Match Sponsors for 2025-2026 School Year

Every school year, St. Dominic School invites businesses and families to participate in our school's M.A.G.I.C. Match Program. The M.A.G.I.C. Match Program (Making A Generous Incentive Commitment) is a unique relationship between our school and a local business or individual. This program provides many opportunities to make a positive impact in the lives of children while recognizing the name of the business or family to a large, appreciative audience. We recognize M.A.G.I.C. Match sponsors in many ways.

- The business, individual, or family name will be displayed in the main entryway of St. Dominic School, as seen in the picture above, and in the gathering area of St. Anthony Church.
- The students and teacher of the class will show their appreciation and communicate with the sponsor about the positive impact of the donation. They may even send photos of the results of the funding in action. Ongoing communication can be tailored to meet your needs.
- We will include the business or individual name in our school newsletters (which reach over 120 families) and in our church bulletin (reaching over 600 families).

Thanks so much to the 2025-2026 M.A.G.I.C. Match sponsors for their generous support.

When a Loved One Dies

A Catholic Guide for Families in the Diocese of Springfield in Illinois

Finding hope, prayer, and peace through the Church's Funeral Rites

The death of a loved one is a sad and difficult time. We naturally mourn the loss of our loved ones whose presence in our lives we will miss deeply. However, this is also a time of hope and grace. As Catholic Christians we place all of our hope in Our Lord Jesus Christ, who through His Passion, Death, and Resurrection has conquered death and prepared the path to eternal life.

The Purpose of Catholic Funeral Rites

- To worship God in thanksgiving for the gift of the person's life.
- To pray for the soul of the deceased, commending them to God's mercy and asking forgiveness of sins.
- To bring hope and consolation to the living, strengthened by the promise of the Resurrection.

In these rites, the Church proclaims the Gospel of Jesus Christ and reminds us that God's mercy is greater than death.

A Catholic funeral is not a single moment, but a journey of prayer made up of three sacred "stations," often connected by processions:

1. The Vigil: typically held at the funeral home the evening before the funeral Mass. It is the Church's official prayer for the deceased and a time for family, friends, and community to gather.

2. The Funeral Liturgy (typically Mass): celebrated in the parish church, this is the heart of the Catholic funeral rites, where we unite the life of the deceased to Christ's sacrifice in the Eucharist.
3. The Rite of Committal: celebrated at the cemetery, where the body or cremated remains are laid to rest in hope of the Resurrection.

These sacred movements help us accompany our loved one in prayer and gently move through grief within the rhythm of the Church's prayer.

Visitations (or Wakes) and Vigil Prayers

The visitation (or wake) and Vigil are two related but distinct parts of the Catholic funeral rites, each serving an important purpose in accompanying the deceased and comforting the family.

1. The Vigil is the Church's official prayer for the deceased and for those who mourn. It is normally celebrated the evening before the Funeral Mass, often during the visitation period, and is an integral part of the Order of Christian Funerals. While the Rosary or other devotions may be prayed, they do not replace the Vigil, though they can be included alongside it.
2. The Vigil may be celebrated with or without the presence of the family. When possible, it is led by a priest, deacon, or parish representative on behalf of the Church, continuing the Church's prayer for the deceased even if loved ones are unable to attend.
3. The Vigil is not held on the morning of the Funeral Mass. Its purpose reflects the idea of “keeping watch,” rooted in the tradition of staying close to the body of the deceased in prayer and remembrance. Holding it the evening before also gives more time for family, friends, and the community to offer their condolences and prayers.

"JESUS TOLD HER, 'I AM THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE; WHOEVER BELIEVES IN ME, EVEN IF HE DIES, WILL LIVE.'" (JOHN 11:25) | DIO.ORG/FUNERAL

4. The visitation and Vigil are most commonly held at the funeral home, where the setting best accommodates gathering and visiting. In certain circumstances, such as a large number of mourners, they may be held at the church with the pastor’s permission, typically in the gathering space or narthex. The body or cremated remains are not left on parish property overnight.

What Music Can Be Played at a Funeral Mass?

Music at a Funeral Mass should come from approved Catholic liturgical hymnals, just as it does at any Mass. This ensures that what is sung reflects our Catholic faith, especially our hope in the Resurrection and God’s mercy. While some secular or personal songs may be meaningful, they are not used during the Mass itself, or during the other funeral rituals, since the liturgy is prayer addressed to God. Carefully chosen sacred music helps lift our hearts in prayer and expresses the faith of the Church.

Words of Remembrance (Eulogy)

A eulogy is not part of the Catholic Funeral Liturgy. However, brief words of remembrance may be permitted:

- They should focus on the person’s faith and relationship with God.
- They must be written in advance and approved by the pastor.
- They should be brief (approximately 250–350 words).
- They are read by a priest or deacon.

Personal stories and memories are best shared at the visitation, family gatherings, or the luncheon, where there is more freedom and time.

Cremation

The Church permits cremation, though burial of the body is still preferred because it more clearly reflects the Christian belief in the Resurrection of the body.

If cremation is chosen:

- The body is ideally present for the Vigil and Funeral Mass before cremation.
- Cremated remains are to be treated with the same dignity as the body.
- They must be placed in a worthy vessel and buried or entombed in a cemetery. Cremated remains may not be placed in a keepsake or jewelry.
- They may not be scattered, divided, or kept in the home.
- Burial should take place normally within 30 days.

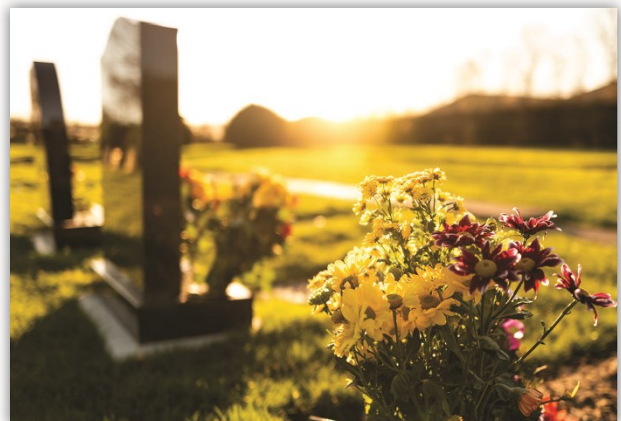

The Church reveres the human body as a temple of the Holy Spirit and destined for resurrection glory in Christ.

Why Be Buried in a Catholic Cemetery?

A Catholic cemetery is a sacred place of hope. It is a “resting place,” where the body awaits the Resurrection promised by Christ. Because the human body is a temple of the Holy Spirit, the Church treats burial with great dignity and reverence. A Catholic cemetery also provides a peaceful place for families to visit, pray, and remain connected to their loved one. Most importantly, those buried in Catholic cemeteries are remembered in the prayers of the Church, especially at Masses and through ongoing blessings, offering the assurance that they are continually commended to God’s mercy if they are awaiting eternal life in Purgatory.

A Final Word of Hope

In the face of death, the Church proclaims a hope the world cannot give: Jesus Christ is risen, and death does not have the final word. Through the funeral rites of the Church, we commend our loved ones to God, pray for their souls, and entrust ourselves to the promise of the Resurrection. In your time of loss, know that the Church walks with you — praying for your loved one, supporting your family, and always pointing to the hope of eternal life in Christ.
